Continuation Sheet (PTOL-303)

Application No.

Applicant allegedly claimed in claims 36 and 56 that the reception of data packets to be detected and the characteristic data packets occurs parallel," the Examiner respectfuly disagrees. In particular, applicant directed the Examiner's attention to the RHS of Fig. 5 of the drawings, which shows that the search by the mobile station is carried out in parallel for data packets which are to be detected and for characteristic data packets. However, performing a parallel search does not automatically or necessarily mean the data packets which are to be detected and for characteristic data packets are also received in parallel. The specification further confirms Examiner's interpretation as described in page 13, lines 5-14 of the specification.
